OPERATORS TO FRAME ANSWER TO INVITATION

Lewis' Request for Conference Will Be Considered

TO BE DECLINED

No Change in Situation In Past Three Weeks Is Noticed.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 22.—Operators in the Pittsburgh vein, operating mines in three eastern Ohio counties, will meet here, tomorrow, to frame an answer to the invitation of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America for a joint meeting of miners and operators to arrange details of the negotiation of a new wage scale effective April 1, when the present agreement between miners and operators in union bituminous coal fields expires.

While no member of the organization, operating mines with more than 18,000 employees in normal times, will predict the outcome of these deliberations, the general feeling is that the invitation will be declined.

It is pointed out that there has been no change in the situation within the past six weeks and that recently such an invitation was declined by operators here and at other points in the competitive field and a policy of dealing with their own men alone was announced.

Such a policy, if persisted in, can but precipitate a strike, men familiar with the workings of the union in its relations to operators, said. The negotiation of a wage scale covering the competitive field, has heretofore been the basis of wage scales in all other bituminous mines employing union labor throughout the country, and the breakdown of these negotiations would mean chaos, so far as the relations of miners and operators is concerned it was asserted.

The central competitive field includes mines in western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. Operators in the Hocking Valley field of Ohio were the first to announce that they would refuse to meet with Lewis and other union officials in negotiating a new scale and followed this later with the announcement of the rates they would be willing to pay. Their course was quickly followed by western Pennsylvania, Indiana and eastern Ohio operators. Operators in the Illinois field, among those in the four states have thus far indicated a willingness to treat with the unions upon the old basis.

There is, however, an undercurrent of feeling that the government will intervene and bring pressure to bear upon the operators to meet once again in joint conference, to the end that a coal strike may not cast a shadow over returning prosperity. If the government does not act, and operators remain adamant in their announced position, danger of a great coal strike is apparent.

BELIEVE MAN MAY BE MISSING VALET

Concord, N. C., Feb. 22.—A man whom local police authorities suspect of being Edward F. Sands, the missing valet in the Taylor murder case, is held without bail in the jail here today while advices are awaited from Los Angeles.

The man gave his name to Chief of Police Talbot as Harvey H. Adams. He said he was a bookkeeper and accountant and that his home was in Richmond, Va., although he had not been in Richmond for some time. When arrested he said he was on his way to Mount Holly, N. C., to try to get work as an accountant with a construction firm.

Plans for a permanent organization with national, state and local committees together with a declaration of principles on which the organization will base its activities were presented to the conference of party leaders in their second annual day's meeting today.

While the committee reports were not made public pending their adoption a national committee for which no name has yet been selected, will be formed to direct the activities of the new movement according to William H. Johnston, chairman of the conference. State and local committees will function under the national body selecting conditions from the existing parties, or if no acceptable candidates appear, possibly entering men of their own choice.

PARTICIPANTS AND SCENES AT CEDARVILLE POSTOFFICE ROBBERY

Cedarville citizens, early Tuesday morning, prevented a robbery of the post office there, and captured the alleged robber, William Miley, 53, following a sensational shooting affray in which Miley was shot by Lloyd Confer, Cedarville resident, while attempting to escape. Miley is now in the county jail in Xenia, suffering from a bullet wound above the heart, and will be turned over to federal authorities. The above pictures show the safe in the post office, which was damaged by nitroglycerine, the effects of which are clearly discernible. The tools used by the robber lie near the door of the safe. The other view shows the exterior of the post office. A hole made by a bullet from a gun in the hands of Confer is shown in the window at the right. Confer opened fire on the building with a shot gun following the blowing of the safe. The insert at the top is Lloyd Confer, who shot Miley as he ran from the building. A picture of Miley, taken at the county jail, Tuesday, is shown at the bottom.

SALES TAX BEING FORMED TO MEET SOLDIERS' BONUS

Two General Plans for Matter Are Under Consideration.

Washington, Feb. 22.—A sales tax to pay the soldiers' bonus was being framed, today, by the tax division of the Republican members of the house ways and means committee. Two general plans for the tax were under consideration. They were:

1.—A tax on specific articles when sold, raising $500,000,000 a year.
2.—A general sales tax with specified exemptions, raising $250,000,000 a year.

The first plan was advocated by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and tax experts of the treasury department as most feasible because collections could be made easier and at less expense. The tax would vary from two to four per cent.

The second plan provides for a straight manufacturers' sales tax of one per cent with a list of exemptions.

Both plans would put the tax on producers or wholesalers, neither plan contemplating on retail sales, or a turnover sales tax.

The ways and means committee's tax framers hope that their work will be completed by the end of the week when they will make a report to the full committee.

Impetus Added To Road Project Along The Ohio

East Liverpool-Marietta Highway Association In Session On Wednesday Advocates Modern Highway—Davis Says He May Run.

Marietta, O., Feb. 22.—Declaring that the undertaking will be financed this year and actual work completed in 1923 the East Liverpool-Marietta Highway Association in session here, today, gave added impetus to the building of a modern highway along the north bank of the Ohio river, destined to extend within the next three years from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati. Hundreds of road enthusiasts from many southern Ohio counties were in attendance, special trains augmenting the regular railroad service in handling the people. Gov. Davis was the chief speaker of the day, although other state officials and several Ohio congressmen responded.

Opening at 11 o'clock this morning, prosecuting attorneys, engineers and county commissioners from the river counties submitted reports showing that rights of way have been secured, legal and local financial difficulties have been overcome and actual work on the heavier sections

Await Federal Action Against Safe Cracker

William Miley, Captured In Cedarville, Still in County Jail, In Xenia—Wound Not Thought To Be As Serious as At First Believed.

William Miley, 53, shot after an alleged attempt to rob the Cedarville post office and captured by Cedarville citizens, will be turned over to federal authorities for disposition as soon as they send after him, it was said, Wednesday.

Postoffice authorities at Dayton were notified Tuesday by Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson of the case, and they agreed to take charge of the prisoner. Warrants for his arrest on a federal charge were expected to be sworn out before United States Commissioner Carl Lenz, in Dayton, Wednesday, but it is possible that he will not be sent for for several days, according to officials here.

When he is called for, Miley's physical condition will be such that it will be possible to take him, according to Dr. W. A. Galloway, physician called to attend the prisoner. The physician told officials Wednesday, that Miley would recover from the effects of the bullet fired by Lloyd Confer, Cedarville, The missile struck him on the left side above the heart, lodging in the left lung. The prisoner himself was feeling much better, Wednesday, and was enjoying relief from the severe pain from which he suffered, Tuesday.

Both plans would put the tax on producers or wholesalers, neither plan contemplating on retail sales, or a turnover sales tax.

The ways and means committee's tax framers hope that their work will be completed by the end of the week when they will make a report to the full committee.

STORY OF RAID IS BRANDED AS DREAM

Washington, Feb. 22.—Prohibition officials today were inclined to characterize as "hooch dreams" stories coming northward from Florida that a fleet of eleven airplanes had captured the British schooner Anna Belle with 12,000 cases of whiskey aboard her.

"It's queer," said Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, "that we don't get any report on this seizure. We have not heard a word. Also we have not any airplanes down there that I've heard of."

The governor pointed with pride to the road building record of his administration, showing that under his leadership Ohio has built more good roads than during any three previous years.

BRITISH SEND NOTE OF CONDOLENCE HERE

London, Feb. 22.—The British air ministry today sent a telegram of condolence to the American government for the loss of the army dirigible Roma with the death of 34 men.

London newspaper made a big display of the American air disaster story, forecasting the report of the aeronautic research committee upon the ZR 2 disaster in this country.

As pointed out by International News Service a week ago the committee report will say that ZR 2 disaster might have been averted if there had been more preliminary experiments.

Three Hundred Building and Loan Bankers Meet In Dayton.

Dayton, O., Feb. 22.—That business is slipping into high gear was the consensus of opinion of 300 building, loan and savings bankers here today from all over southwestern Ohio to celebrate Washington's birthday.

"Money is loosening up, but the demand for it is so heavy that interest rates cannot fall within the next six months," according to James A. Devine, secretary of the Ohio Building Association League. He declared Ohioans would build 40,000 homes within the next six months, if building, loan and savings institutions are able to meet the demands for loans.

Mrs. L. M. Studevant, Sidney, told the building and loan men that the women of Ohio are demanding that Ohioans build more homes.

"We rank third in the number of homes owned, with Pennsylvania first and New York second. Just fifty per cent of the homes in Ohio are owned by the occupants," said Mrs. Studevant. She declared that women throughout the state are organizing for the purpose of teaching the public how to secure homes.

"The public is as gullible as ever," according to E. M. Baugher, of Newark. "There is just as much money being put into worthless stocks now as there was two years ago," he said.

TANGLED MASS OF DEBRIS MARKS SPOT WHERE 34 AIRMEN DIED IN ROMA CRASH

SAYS AIRCRAFT WAS WORLD'S SAFEST SHIP

Berlin, Feb. 22.—Brigadier Gen. William Mitchell, assistant chief of the American air service, who has just arrived in Berlin declared today that he considered the American dirigible Roma the "safest ship that ever took the air."

BEGIN THOROUGH INVESTIGATION INTO DISASTER

Probe of Roma Disaster Will Go Deep Into Craft Construction.

SIMILAR TO ZR 2 Same Faulty Construction Is Believed Responsible For Last Tragedy

Washington, Feb. 22.—A searching investigation into the Roma disaster which cost nearly two score lives, will be inaugurated immediately, officials said, today.

The Roma investigation probably will go far deeper than the mere ascertainment of the causes of the fatal crash. Appalled by the series of terrible accidents to aircraft recently, particularly the lighter than air type of the Roma, officers of the navy and army air service said today the probe would go into the fundamentals of lighter than air construction.

An official investigating board probably will be named by Major Gen. M. M. Patrick, chief of the army air service, who is now at Norfolk. Although the Roma was an army ship it is likely that navy officers will take part in the investigation too, as the navy is deeply interested in lighter than air ships. The ZR 2, which buckled and crashed near Hull, England, last summer with a terrible loss of life, was a navy ship.

Air service officers were quick to point out today that the ZR 2 and the Roma disaster were not dissimilar. In the case of the ZR 2, it was faulty construction which caused the huge ship to buckle and fall. In the case of the Roma, it was presumably the same faulty construction which caused one of the elevators to slip and throw the ship out of control.

FIVE OUT OF SEVEN DAYTON MEN IN ROMA DISASTER KILLED IN TRAGEDY TUESDAY

Dayton, O., Feb. 22.—The Roma disaster at Langley field, yesterday afternoon was brought home to Dayton with considerable force this morning, when Major T. H. Bane, commandant at McCook field received confirmation that five of seven of his men had perished.

They were sent to Langley field in January.

Major Bane arranged early today to send representatives of the field to the scene of the disaster to look after the effects of the victims and bring their bodies to Dayton.

Included in the list of dead are, William O'Laughlin, Brooklyn avenue, Charles Schulenberg, 63 East McPherson street, Thomas Harriman, 2027 Leo street.

Robert, Hanson, Miamisburg, Walter W. Stryker, 201 Park wood drive.

The five dead men, with Charles Dworack, and Roy Hurley, all employees of the assembly department, had been sent from McCook field on January 24 to install the Liberty engines in the dirigible.

Dworack, superintendent of the assembly work and Hurley escaped death Dworack was burned about the face and hands, and it is not

HUGE AMERICAN DIRIGIBLE TAKES ALL BUT 11 OF CREW TO DEATH IN EXPLOSION FOLLOWING PLUNGE

Blame Failure of Controls to Function As Cause Of Tragedy at Hampton Roads Naval Base In Which Birdmen are Caught Without Chance

BIG AIRCRAFT EXPLODES AFTER HITTING ELECTRIC WIRES

Terrific Fire Makes Funeral Pyre of Trapped Crew. While Firemen Battle Conflagration City Block Long in Vain Effort to Effect Rescue.

Army Supply Base, Hampton Roads, Va., Feb. 22.—A charred skeleton of twisted metal, slashed with bits of frayed bunting, today, marked the spot, where 34 American army birdmen died in the crash of the semi-rigid dirigible, Roma, once pride of the Italian air forces, which crashed to the ground, yesterday, from a height of 1,000 feet, while making a test flight at the Hampton Roads Naval Base.

While three concurrent investigations were being rushed by army officials, fellow airmen honored their dead as crusaders of the sky who were suddenly overtaken by a fickle fate.

There are eleven survivors of the crash and the terrific fire that made a funeral pyre of the trapped airmen. Those of the survivors able to talk, today, blamed the catastrophe on broken elevating controls and a liberty motor that "went dead." The Roma was making its first test flight after liberty motors had replaced the original Italian engines.

Out of the maze of counter stories, it was apparent, today, that the crew and passengers of the Roma for the most part "never had a chance to escape." Trapped beneath the falling envelope of the bag they were blasted into blackened, shriveled corpses in the first great explosion that followed the crash. The handful who escaped either dove from the cabin just before the crash as else landed in deep gullies that crisscrossed the field on which the Roma landed. These gullies provided protection from the blast for a few.

These bodies of the dead, most of them charred beyond hope of recognition, lay in a tiny morgue at Newport News, Va., across the bay from the scene of the catastrophe. Four great army and navy bases, touching on Hampton Roads, meanwhile paid honored tribute to the air victims.

The three investigations into the crash are being conducted by Major Gen. Patrick, chief of the army air service, who came from Washington by airplane; by lieutenant Colonel Arthur G. Fisher, acting commandant at the flying field, who ordered the Roma "up" on its last flight and by Major E. L. Kennedy, summary court officer who is the army's "coroner."

Major Kennedy announced today he would swear in a jury and hold an inquest over the bodies either later today or tomorrow. He will determine responsibility for the accident for the local military authorities.

The crash which occurred within the army supply base grounds here, terminated what was to have been a test flight of the Roma under power of new liberty motors. The airship after rising above its hanger at Langley field crossed Hampton Roads in a long sweeping circle. While still above the bay the ship developed "head trouble" according to survivors and observers. She nosed downward, settling slowly at first, but in a few minutes driving earthward at an angle of 45 degrees with increasing speed.

As the huge dirigible plunged to earth it capsize across a high tension electric line, bursting into a roaring furnace of blazing hydrogen gas.

Long after dark last night, many hours after her fall, the ship was still a mass of flames from end to end of her 410-foot mass. The fire fed on 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas which had distended the great bag for the flight and made all attempts at rescue work futile.

Barely a dozen of those aboard were picked up alive and one of these died on the way to the hospital. All who survived the fire escaped by jumping as the ship struck.

The others perished in the hull of the fallen bag were burned to death.

The flames finally were brought into submission by three fire departments who fought them with chemicals. And then derricks began picking up the wreckage which consisted of scarcely more than the aluminum framework and the six Liberty motors of the ship. Within the wreckage lay the bodies, practically all charred beyond recognition. But before the night had passed 33 bodies had been removed accounting for the last of those who were known to have taken flight on the fatal voyage.

Accounts of survivors and of eye-witnesses as to what had happened appeared to agree that the huge kite-like structure of the stern rudder, itself as large as a bombing plane, had slipped to one side as the Roma dove, along 1,000 feet above the army base.

It was just before 2 p. m. when those below at the army base at Hampton Roads, their attention caught by the approaching roar of the six motors, looked up to see the Roma drop. They agreed that the rudder seemed to have slipped bodily down and to one side.

The ship nosed steeply down. As she came closer it was seen that her crew was hurling out sand ballast from the ports in the fragile fabric that formed the covering of the space between her keel and back, the living and operating quarters of the ship. The blunt nose of the bag did not respond. On the ship came, unchecked in her glide earthward, head first. Her commander could not force her the few hundred feet that would have dropped her into the waters of the bay and comparative safety for her people.

Below ran the double wires of the high power electric line, carrying a 2300-volt current. The Roma's nose, shod with its aluminum guard thrust into the wires, broke them as the ship flattened to earth and rolled over, and the next moment came the noise as of an explosion and the flames burst out along the hull space.

There was a rush of men to the rescue from the army post and the navy base beyond.

As the Roma neared the wires two men were seen to leap from high up in her slanting hull. As the stricken, flaming monster writhed in her final death agony, 10 more dropped from her doors or ports or through holes they tore in the fabric sides that enclosed them. Some leaped from the platform where the engines stood, far out from the hull.

So swift was the flare of the gas flame that rescuers were driven back before its terrific heat. They watched helplessly as the great bag shriveled in the fierce blaze of the liberated gas. The Roma was a wall of flame a city block long, and until the thousands of gallons of chemicals and water had checked the holocaust it was impossible to reach the dead in that fiery furnace.

The ship left no passenger list when she set out for a brief trial run. She was known to have carried many officers and men as passengers, however, in addition to

WOUNDED VETS URGE PRESIDENT TO HELP THEM FIRST.

Wounded veterans of the World War protested to President Harding against a soldiers' bonus taking precedence over funds for wounded and disabled veterans. Today's Talk

Go Ahead Anyway

Think—then decide—and go ahead anyway.
Life is an educational process—not an accumulation of years.
Everything that you do must teach you something. You must keep storing up in your mind information that will be of use to you when the decision times come.
By going ahead anyway—you learn!
And learning is growing.
There are times that come to us all when we slow up our little trains and caravans—these bodies and minds of ours—and find that we are in a state of hesitation and doubt.
Knowing just what to do—having the ability to decide definitely and quickly—is one of the master qualities of the masterful man or woman.
The only way to form this useful and necessary habit is to go ahead anyway, oftentimes. For there is nothing that shakes the foundation of character like not knowing what to do—and not finding out quickly.
It is better to go ahead than to hesitate—for you are sure to learn the right or wrong in your decisions, and will gradually become a quicker thinker with your judgment well rounded out by experience.
So when you seem to be at sea, with no way of knowing the direction, go ahead anyway. Something is sure to happen to lead you aright.
Nature herself throws up danger signals and warnings. Every man is given guidance and attention so that he may take the right road.
But you cannot stand around and expect to get anywhere.
Go ahead anyway. Your very mistakes will lead you. And your increased confidence in your ability to take trouble and disappointment, as well as success, will gradually make you a man of decision and action.

PROBE OF W. O. W. IS PROPOSED IN HOUSE

Washington, Feb. 22.—Investigation by a special house committee of the affairs of the Woodmen of the World was proposed in a resolution introduced yesterday by Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas, who cited a number of alleged irregularities on the part of certain officers of the order.

JUST GOT OVER A COLD?

Look out for kidney trouble and backache. Colds overtax the kidneys and often leave them weak. For weak kidneys—well, read what an Xenia woman says:

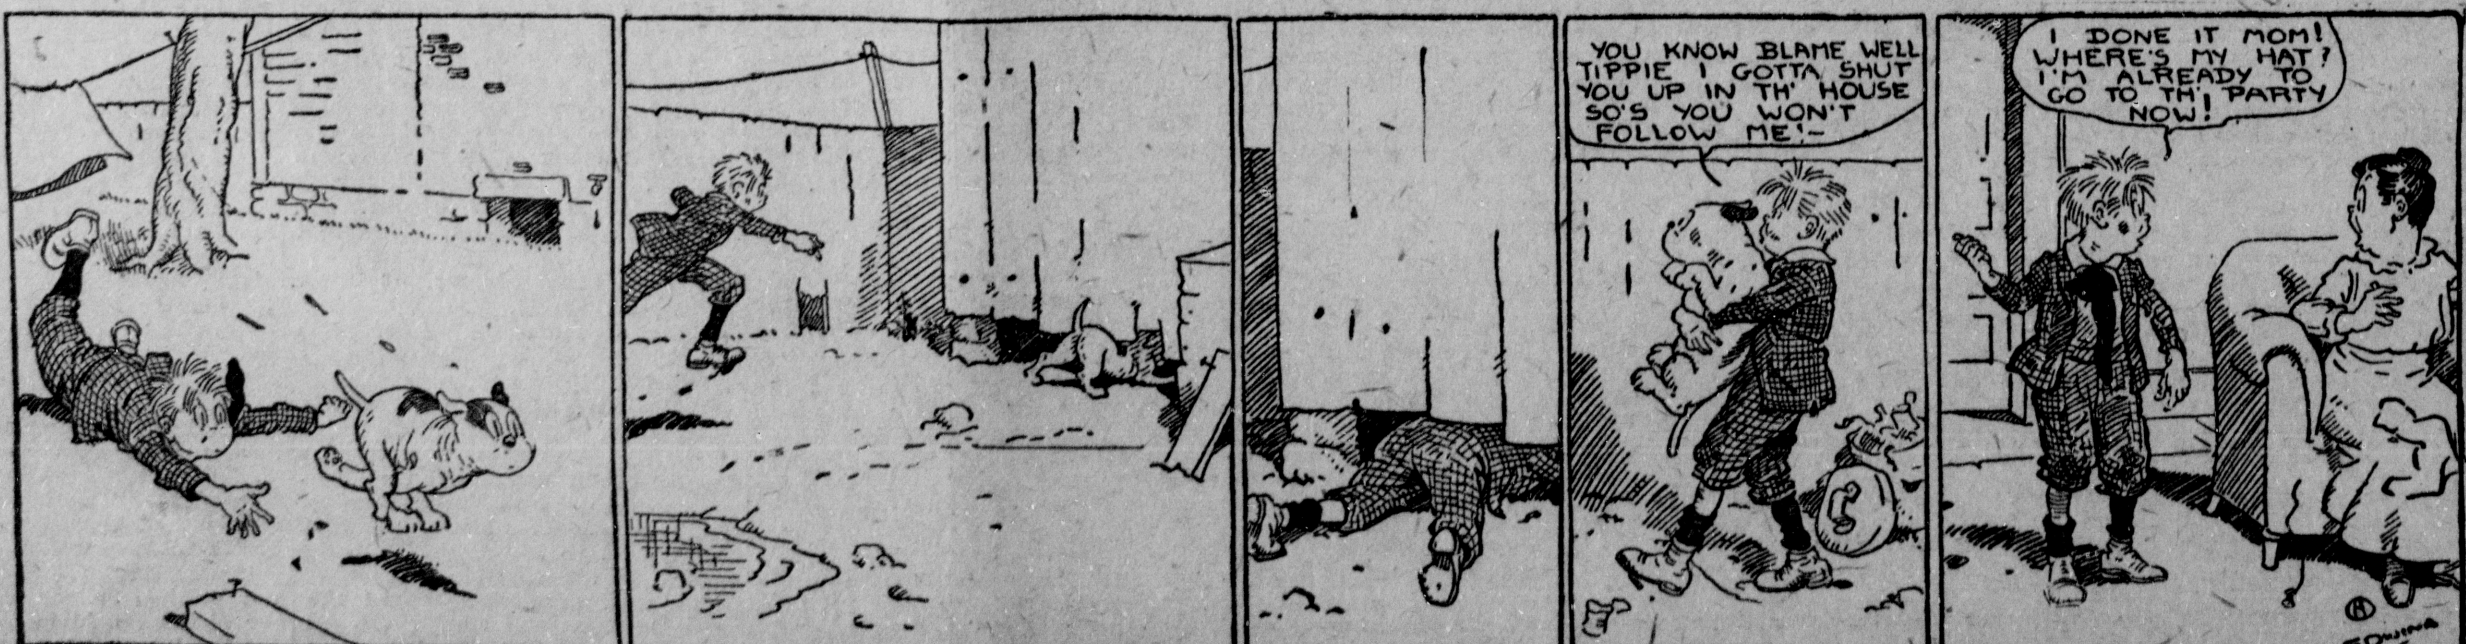

Mrs. Hannah A. Reed, 520 W. Second St., says: "There were times when I stooped while washing that I got severe stabs of pain through my back, and I could hardly rise again, my back was so stiff. When I got up mornings I was lame and tired. My back throbbed in the morning just as if I had been pounded with a club. My kidneys were irregular in action and caused me annoyance. Colds settled on my kidneys and this started my trouble. About three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, which were highly recommended to me, relieved me of those pains in my back. My kidneys became normal and regular in every way."

DECREASE IN DEATH RATE OF NATION IS SHOWN BY REPORT

Washington, Feb. 22.—The death rate in the United States decreased to 1306 per 100,000 population in 1920 from 1496 per 100,000 in 1919, according to figures announced yesterday by the census bureau. All age groups showed a decline in death rate but the most pronounced decrease was recorded in the figures covering infant mortality, under one year of age, the 1920 rate being 9660 per 100,000 compared with 12,083 per 100,000 in 1919 a decline of about 26 per cent. The rate for the group above 75 years of age decreased from 14,360 to 13,490 per 100,000 approximately six per cent, while that for the 45 to 75 age group decreased from 2581 to 2280 per 100,000 or about 12 per cent.

The decrease in all adult groups was attributed largely to the reduced rates from tuberculosis, typhoid fever, and bright's disease. The rate for tuberculosis showed a decrease in the 10 year period from 160 to 114 per 100,000; for typhoid fever, 24 to 8 per 100,000; and bright's disease, and acute nephritis, 99 to 89. The death rate from accidents of all kinds decreased from 84 to 71.

Diseases showing a serious increase in death rate, on the other hand, were cancer, the rate for which increased from 75 to 83 in 1920, 14 to 21, and puerperal causes, 15 to 19. The rate for organic diseases of the heart showed practically no change from the 1919 rate of 141.55.

FESS AVERS TAX ON AUTOMOBILES NOW NECESSARY

Washington, C. H., Feb. 22.—The Fayette County Automobile Club has received an answer to the telegram which was sent to Congressman S. D. Fess, a few days ago in protest to a graduated tax on automobiles as one way of raising money for the proposed national soldiers' bonus.

Mr. Fess says that it seems necessary to enact the legislation against which the Club is protesting. He says that he voted against the bonus two years ago because it did not carry the means for its payment.

Mr. Fess also declares that he has promised not to resist the bonus "if it carries a tax that is equitable and widely distributed so as not to further depress the business of the country and increase our unemployment."

"That there will be a graduated tax on automobiles in accordance with the horse power,"

The letter which the Automobile Club received is as follows: Fayette Co. Automobile Club, Washington C. H., Ohio.

"My dear Mr. Allen: Referring to your wire of protest against the proposed automobile tax or the bonus, I am writing to state that it seems necessary to enact this legislation.

As you know, I voted against the bonus two years ago because it did not carry the means for its payment, and secondly I thought it would not be of substantial benefit to the boys.

I wish it were possible to avoid this additional tax. I have promised not to resist the bonus if the bill would carry a tax that is equitable and widely distributed so as not further to depress the business of the country and further increase our unemployment. However, I am of opinion that there will be a graduated tax on automobiles in accordance with the horsepower.

EXTRACT FROM GEORGE WASHINGTON'S FAREWELL ADDRESS.

"Observe good faith and justice toward all nations. Cultivate peace and harmony with all. Religion and morality enjoin this conduct. And can it be that good policy does not equally enjoin it? It will be worthy of a free, enlightened, and at no distant period a great nation to give mankind the magnanimous and too novel example of a people always guided by an exalted justice and benevolence. Who can doubt that in the course of time and things the fruits of such a plan would richly repay any temporary advantages which might be lost by steady adherence to it? Can it be that Providence has not connected the permanent felicity of a nation with its virtue? The experiment, at least, is recommended by every sentiment which ennobles human nature. Alas! it is rendered impossible by its vices?"

"In the execution of such a plan nothing is more essential than that permanent, inveterate antipathies against particular nations and passionate attachments for others should be excluded, and that in place of them just and amicable feelings toward all should be cultivated. The nation which indulges toward another an habitual hatred or an habitual fondness is in some degree a slave. It is a slave to its animosity or to its affection, either of which is sufficient to lead it astray from its duty and its interest. Antipathy in one nation against another disposes each more readily to offer insult and injury, to lay hold of slight causes of umbrage, and to be haughty and intractable when accidental or trifling occasions of dispute occur."

ANOTHER WORLD'S FAIR PROPOSED.

If Philadelphia does not get the next World's Fair or American Exposition it will certainly not be their fault, for they started their efforts for it a year ago and have been losing no time in working day and night for it since.

They have named it the "Sesqui-Centennial Fair," and propose holding it in 1926. Sesqui means "a whole and a half" and their idea is to have the fair commemorate a whole and a half century of the American Union—from 1776 to 1926.

The first so-called "World's Fair" we remember attending was in Philadelphia in 1876, which of course commemorated the hundredth anniversary of the birth of our beloved country. And that was "some fair" too. We have attended many World's Fairs since, but none has left a more lasting impression.

The honored George W. Childs was then the proprietor of the Philadelphia Public Ledger and laid himself out in his superb efforts to entertain the editors from all over the country—and of course made himself the beau-ideal of the fraternity.

It was on this visit that we saw for the first time a great auditorium brilliantly lighted with electricity—the audience room of the Philadelphia Masonic temple.

But going back to Philadelphia's proposed "Sesqui Centennial Fair," we must not forget to tell you that Edward Bok, for thirty years editor of the Ladies Home Journal, has offered Herbert Hoover $50,000 per year for five years to become promoter and General Manager of the proposed fair. Whether Mr. Hoover can be induced to leave his National job, as Postmaster General Hayes is to do, by the offer of a great salary, remains to be seen.

OUR POLICY ABOUT THE PHILIPPINES.

The North China Herald, in commenting upon the Wood-Forbes report on the Philippine Islands, says: "The report is delightfully refreshing in its cool, clear common sense. For America now to grant the Filipinos an independent government we read, 'would be betrayal of the Philippine people, misfortune for the American people, a distinct step backward in the path of progress, and discreditable neglect of our national duty.' These, be it remembered, are the words of two men of broad and kindly nature, who arrived at their conclusions by traveling through the length and breadth of the islands and by close interrogation of all classes of people. The practical result of the extended liberties introduced during recent years in the Philippines is that the legislature brought the islands so nearly to bankruptcy that only by Congress increasing their borrowing powers could the national finances be extricated; and by the deplorable bank scandals which have landed one exalted Filipino in gaol and caused the arrest of several others. Hence, also, it is easy to sympathize with the recommendation that 'in the event of failure to receive the necessary corrective action by the Philippine legislature the United States Congress should declare null and void whatsoever legislation is causing embarrassment to the governor general.'"

PUSSYFOOTING AS IS.

Detectives have posed as all sorts of things. They are familiar with all the disguises in the repertoire of our old friend Hairbreadth Harry. But the sleuths who broke up a roulette mill of fashionable gentry in New York pulled a new one. They scratched and miaowed at the door. Whereupon some one with a heart said, "Poor pussy!" and in opening the door of the apartment to admit the supposed feline vagrant let the cat out of the bag.

That kind of stunt is older than the trick of the Greeks who got the Trojans to let in what they thought was a horse, which turned out to be a band of armed men. It is older than the ass cavorting about in the lion's skin or the wolf wearing the bonnet and specs of Red Riding Hood's granny. But these pussyfooters in a real, true sense did not even have to possess themselves of the pelt of the creature they impersonated. They merely made the familiar music of the back fence. Which proves that for a detective it is perhaps better to be cat-voiced than to be lynx-eyed.

Struggles for supremacy among traction companies, on paper, is already in the air, and there promises to be some merry hustling before the season is much further advanced. The ordinance, granting a franchise to the Xenia and Wilmington Traction Company was passed by the council of Wilmington, last night. The senior class of Central High School held a meeting last night, after school and decided to place a stone in the school yard. This will be the last one to be placed on the monument on the west side

CHURCH REPORT OF RURAL COMMUNITIES IS BEING PREPARED

A complete picture of rural and small town church conditions in Ohio will be presented to the public in the early fall of this year, when the Ohio Federation of Churches publishes its final report of the statewide rural church and community survey, completed after two years' work, according to word sent to Wilmington and Clinton county churches. Xenia churches have not been notified of the work it was said Wednesday.

With all findings reduced to tabular form, with a church map published for each of the 88 counties and with all individual county reports either printed or ready for printing, Rev. B. F. Lamb, executive secretary of the federation, is beginning work on complete reports. It will be a book of about 250 pages, he estimates, illustrated with maps and charts and accompanied by statistical tables.

"The county reports have contained only a limited amount of the data collected in the survey," said Mr. Lamb. "The state report, however, will include all the material, covering completely all phases of church organization and activities."

Matters covered in the survey include: Church buildings and equipment, finances, membership statistics, character and number of services and special meetings, Sunday school activities, pastoral salaries and extent of circuits.

The study of church conditions was accompanied in each community by a study of general conditions related to church development. This section of the report will include a summary of population statistics, industrial and agricultural data, road conditions, community leadership, organizations, educational and recreational facilities.

Although combined rewards of $2,000 have been offered for information to the arrest and conviction of the alleged slayer, no trace of the gunmen has as yet been found. According to the Mayor many people have furnished the authorities with information, none of which led to a definite clue.

THRIFT WEEK.

We lately had a week of thrift, to brace our spendthrift souls, and close observers saw us drift to savings banks with rolls. A week of thrift is far too short this lesson to convey: Two pints of nickels make a quart, against the rainy day. I save the dimes for seven days, and find it quite a bore, for I can think of forty ways to blow them at the store. I drop a koepke in the jar, and sigh, "It's saved, alas! but it would buy a good cigar composed of herbs and grass." A rouble in the jar I drop, and I'm that much ahead; "but, oh," I sigh, "the drugstore pop, that's stained a gaudy red!" And when the week of thrift is done, I gladly raid the till, and take therefrom the hoarded mon, and blow it with a will. But if we had a year of thrift, the lesson we would heed, and from our shoulders we might lift the load that makes them bleed. It is a habit, saving scads, a habit hard to learn, if we train with the giddy lads who think coin's made to burn. But in a year we've learned to count the guilders we have stored; it's good to see the package mount, to view the rising hoard. We realize how foolish 'tis, to waste the hard-earned rocks, and to ourselves we say, "Gee whiz, this is the graft that knocks!" And so we save the marks and francs, the kroners and the bucks, and haul them to the savings banks in lorries and in trucks.

SPRING WEATHER THOUGHT CAUSE OF MARRIAGE LICENSES

The chap who said "in the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," made one mistake.

He should have included the very evident fact that the female of the species is not to be outdone either in the fanciness or the romantic thoughts.

Evidence the result of one day of balmy spring-like weather. With the soft skies and warm sun, the budding romance in the hearts of lovers sprang into life. The result was four marriage licenses granted in probate court, Tuesday, by Deputy Judge S. C. Wright, while during the recent cold-snap few offered to attempt marital bliss in the face of impending coal bills.

The four licenses were granted as follows:

Ralph Leander Miller, 20, Xenia R. R. 3, farmer and Rachel Mae Ashbaugh, 19, Bath township. Rev. Leis.

James M. Hollingsworth, 40, Jamestown, farmer and Mrs. Ida Burton, Jefferson township. Rev. V. F. Brown.

WAIT FEDERAL ACTION AGAINST CEDARVILLE BANDIT

spector Brennan of Columbus and the Sheriff, Miley was born in Indianapolis and began his criminal career there, he told the officers.

At the age of fourteen the prisoner committed his first depredation when he robbed a money till, according to local authorities. He was caught, and sent to an Indiana reformatory. After he was freed from the institution, according to his own story, he became a rover, and for seven years drifted about the country. It was then he decided to become a burglar by profession, and he admitted many robberies, mostly of postoffices, in all parts of the country. He confessed to serving numerous terms in the Ohio State Penitentiary as well as a term in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., and a term in the Michigan Penitentiary.

The desire to obtain money to recover an automobile which had been taken from him because he could not meet payments led to Miley being shot and subsequently captured in Cedarville, he told the officials. The prisoner said he had been living in Toledo where he had purchased the automobile.

Information that Miley would recover from the effects of the bullet wound, was good news to Lloyd Confer, who fired the shot which led to the robber's capture. Confer regretted the thought Tuesday that he had killed the man, and was much relieved to learn that he would recover from the effects of the bullet.

From his residence near the center of the village, Confer has a commanding view from his bedroom window, of operations similar to the Tuesday morning occurrence. Several years ago he was aroused by alleged burglars who stopped a motor in front of the post office, and were apparently attempting to effect an entrance to the building. Confer shot at the men, and they escaped in an automobile, blood stains revealed on the sidewalk. The following morning indicated that one bullet at least had found its mark.

He was among the first, aroused early Tuesday morning, when Miley exploded nitroglycerine in an unsuccessful attempt to rob the post office safe. After firing two shots from his shot gun, Confer opened fire with a repeating 22 calibre long rifle. He believes his fifth shot found its mark, inflicting the injury that caused Miley to give up to Clarence Deck near railroad station after first attempting to evade his pursuers. Miley said when he ran from the rear of the post office he was unaware where the shots were coming from, but fired his own revolver several times, in order to "let them know he had a gun." Marks of his bullets and the bullets of citizens were found in buildings in the neighborhood, but Miley did not locate the user of the rifle in the upstairs bed room window.

Miley still steadfastly denies that he had a companion in the attempted robbery. Officials are also inclined to believe his story, after his apparently clean breast of his criminal career and his own story of how he happened to attempt the Cedarville job.

Friends of Confer and citizens of Cedarville believe that he will receive a reward for the capture of Miley, the belief resulting from announcements made of rewards offered by the postal department for the capture of information leading to the capture of postal bandits. Whether Confer, who fired the shot that brought Miley into custody, or Deck who captured the prisoner near the railroad, is entitled to the reward, is still a matter of question among Cedarville citizens.

The Cedarville Protective Association is also expected to grant a reward for the capture of the robber. The association is said to offer a standing reward for the capture of lawbreakers and under this offer, Elijah Brigner, Cedarville citizen, is said to have received $100 reward from the association for the capture of "Skeet" Jones, colored, and alleged corn thief, who is now residing in the Dayton Work House. Jones was captured after he had attempted to steal corn from a shed in the rear of Brigner's house several weeks ago, and was shot by Brigner from a window with a shot gun.

LONDON DEFEATS XENIA HIGH FIVE BY 35 TO 33 SCORE

A lad named Davis, who wore the colors of London High School and who could locate the wobbly nets from the free line with maddening regularity, defeated Coach Jerry Katherman's Central High School five at London Tuesday night, the locals losing 35 to 33.

Sixteen fractures of court etiquette were credited to the Central five and Davis converted 13 of these sixteen opportunities into points. On the other hand, Xenia could garner but seven out of 14 tries at the whitewash mark, when a better percentage of free shooting would have won the game for the locals.

Central got away to a bad start, and three field goals by Gagner and six out of 12 attempts from the foul line by him in that period represented the entire scoring of the blue and white team. The half ended 18 to 12.

In the second half, the Katherman athletes came back and easily outplayed Coach Lange's team, scoring ten field goals to six for London, and 21 points to 17 up by the Madison County five.

In the matter of field goals, Xenia excelled with a total of 13 to London's 11, but the lax foul shooting cost them the game.

Gagner again starred for Xenia with seven field goals and seven foul shots, while Captain Boxwell scored three field goals, Davis with three field goals and 13 fouls starred for London. A small floor even more diminutive than the Piqua court, greatly handicapped the play of the blue and white five. More than 50 rooters accompanied the team. Lineup and summary:

Sometimes after Effects of Measles are Worse

Wednesday Health Talk No. 8. By G. C. DONOHOO, D. C.

Sometimes the after effects of measles are worse than disease itself. This is particularly true of the condition in which the disease often leaves the eyes. Measles patients must be protected from light, otherwise blindness may result.

Of course those who suffered from an under supply of nerve impulses to the eyes were in position to suffer most from an attack of this disease. When the eyes are weakened by subnormal nerve supply, the only correction is to restore a full degree of nerve freedom by chiropractic spinal adjustments. Those who suffer in this way from measles after effects can do nothing better than to arrange for chiropractic spinal adjustments.

MEASLES BLINDNESS IS NOW OVERCOME

"When I was six measles left me blind in both eyes for about a year, then I began to see out of my right eye, but was still blind in the left. This was my condition when I began chiropractic spinal adjustments. After about a week of adjustments I could see again with the left eye. Today I have discarded my glasses and can read fine print without strain. I certainly feel grateful to chiropractic as it has done for me what could not have been done by any other kind of doctor."—Roy E. Dougherty, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1274.

Trio Sets New Style In Traveling To Sporting Contests De Luxe

Styles change, and thus the modern Beau Brummel, hieing forth to call upon yow maiden faire, abandons the horse and the red-wheeled buggy, and drives the motor car.

And thus also, the modern Knights of the Road, no more fing their tattered raiment to the cold wind abroad a side door fullman, but atop the luxurious cushions of the motor, his their weary way.

Of course there are still non-progressives among the travelling fraternity, who are not auto-broke, and who still resort to the steel rails as a means of quick and effective transportation. But the feat of one Xenia lad who went to Miamisburg attended a football game, dined in Dayton, went to a theater and returned home with the expenditure of but a single dime, taxes the story telling powers of even veteran wanderers.

"Weary Tom" Mason, "Daring Dick" Stephens, and "Slippery Spik" Arnold, are setting the new style in inexpensive traveling this winter. The trio does not miss a football or basketball game in which a Central High team takes part, and its expenditures for all three on all trips made, would probably be less than one piastro.

The three solve the problem of low finances and necessity for travel, by using their wits and their nerve. Posting themselves on the outskirts of Xenia, they are able by the new process of "auto-bumping" to land themselves at their destination within two or three hours after leaving Xenia. The process is simple. They merely hail the first auto going the same direction they are and ask for a ride.

Recently they went to Greenfield, in this manner, making the trip and back without walking a mile, and landing in Greenfield two hours after they left Xenia. In order to be sure one motorist would stop and pick them up, between Xenia and Jamestown. "Daring Dick" flopped in the road. His companions caught the cue and acting their parts carefully helped him to his feet, holding him as he feigned an attempt at walking. The motorists could do nothing else but stop. Outside of Washington C. H., they hailed the first car they met, and did not know for some time that it was an auto bus.

Gently they broke the news to the driver that they had no money. So the driver hauled them to nothing.

The feat that "Weary Tom" pulled on the day Central played Miamisburg at Miamisburg, drew down the rubber socks. He left here with "Daring Dick" and they "bummed" a ride to Dayton. There they caught a truck that carried them into Miamisburg. "Weary Tom" spent his only dime for some ginger bread. "Daring Dick" saved his fifteen cents for unforeseen possibilities. They climbed over a fence into the football game. "Daring Dick" left early in order to catch a ride before it grew dark. "Weary Tom" waited to see the finish. Standing at the outskirts of Miamisburg he was picked up by a party of Xenia High School girls returning from the game. There were seven of them. In Dayton the girls stopped to dine. "Weary Tom" said he guessed he'd shuffle along as he had no money. The girls insisted he be their guest at dinner. After they took him to a theater, and later brought him home.

The trio makes little trouble in obtaining rides along the road, according to their own story. In some cases every motorist they ask, will stop for them. Which goes to show that Americans are generally of a trusting nature.

A farmer picked the three up one day between Xenia and Springfield. Where are you boys going? Are you running off from your folks? he inquired. He was assured to the contrary. That was one trip in which her operating crew. As she rose from the field her commander leaped out to signal that he had 44 persons aboard. It was believed he did not include one civilian on the ship and that she actually carried 45.

Langley Field, Va., Feb. 22.—The official army explanation today blamed the crash of the semi-rigid dirigible Roma on the failure of "controls to function."

Lieut. Col. Arthur G. Fisher, acting commander of the army air base, made the following announcement:

"The cause of the crash of the Roma was due to failure of the controls to function. The trouble developed at an altitude of six hundred feet and pilots of the ship were unable to prevent its descent. The bag caught fire, following an explosion caused by contact with a 2,500 volt transit line. The large number of casualties were due to the explosion and resultant fire. Otherwise, a much larger number would have escaped serious injury."

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 22.—Lieut. Byron G. Burt, elevating pilot of the inflated Roma and the only active flight control officer, to survive the disaster today blamed the crash on the failure of control instruments to operate. He told the International News Service that the ship refused to respond to the elevating controls while 600 feet in the air and dove head first into the ground at an angle of 45 degrees.

I noticed that soon after we left Langley field the ship was having trouble in keeping her head up," Burt said today. "I tried the controls repeatedly, but she maneuvered very badly. While above the army supply base, the elevators failed entirely to respond to the controls. I called attention to this unusual predicament and then noticed that the ship was falling by the head."

"I could not understand it. I threw the control levers far over and ordinarily the Roma should have nosed up in the air, but she continued to settle. We went down as we neared the earth, and then men realized that we were going to crash. They became panic stricken."

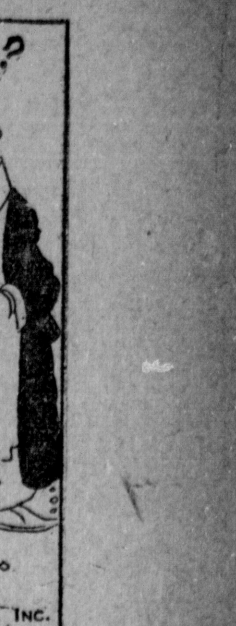

A few, I think leaped over the side, one dove with a parachute. I heard later that it failed to open.

"I remained at the controls still trying to get her nose up but as we neared the ground, the envelope struck the overhead electric wires paralleling the road into Camp. The next instant we struck, nose first."

A GUEST SUPPER MENU

"Please publish a guest supper menu," writes a reader friend. Although it is not necessary to serve soup on such an occasion, it is nevertheless a welcome addition on a cold night.

Tomato Soup
Beef Loaf
French Fried Sweet Potatoes
Coffee
Apple Pudding.

Tomato Soup: To a one-quart can of tomatoes add 1 pint of either cold water or beef stock. Into this grate 1 medium-sized onion and add 2 medium-sized pared and thinly sliced white potatoes. (A cupful of green celery-tops, chopped, will add to the flavor, but these are not necessary.) Cover the pot and let the soup simmer for 40 minutes, or until the potatoes are tender, then strain all through a fine sieve and return to the pot; add 1 tablespoon of sugar, 1 teaspoon of salt, 1 teaspoon of pepper, a small piece of butter, and thicken with a tablespoon of flour mixed to a paste in 3 tablespoons of cold water. Serve very hot.

Beef Loaf: Mix together 2 pounds of uncooked, finely-chopped beef, 12 pound of fresh pork, 2 beaten eggs, 1 cup of crushed cracker crumbs, 2 cups of sweet milk, 1-3 cup of softened butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, and 1-3 teaspoon sage. Bake one and one-half hours in a moderate oven. Serve hot.

French Fried Sweet Potatoes: Pare sweet potatoes smoothly and cut into narrow slices lengthwise. Put these slices into a frying basket and lower them into deep, hot fat. Cook a delicate brown. Or they are nice cut in rounds instead of in oblong slices, and fried in the same way.

Apple Pudding: Sift together 1 pint of bread flour, 1 teaspoon of baking powder and 1-2 teaspoon salt. Rub into this 2 tablespoons of butter. Beat together 1 egg and 1-2 cup of sugar and combine the wet and the dry mixtures. Add only enough sweet milk to make a soft dough, then turn it out onto a board and roll very lightly, making it circular in shape and as nearly as possible the exact size of the top of the baking dish in which you wish to make the pudding. Cut 8 pared apples into small pieces, sweetening them slightly with brown sugar, and spread the dough over them. Bake in a hot oven for 25 minutes, or until brown. Serve with the following:

Apple Pudding Sauce: Mix together 3-4 cup of brown sugar and 3-4 cup of white sugar, creaming it with 1 tablespoon of butter and adding 1 tablespoon of flour. Add hot water, a few drops at a time till it is quite thick (the flour makes it thick), then stop and mix well before serving.

Here is another good sauce: Smooth Sauce: Cream together 1 cup of powdered sugar and 1-2 cup of butter; add 1 teaspoon of vanilla and 1-2 cup of sweet milk. Stir smooth over hot water.

HELEN HUNTER'S HUSBAND

BY JANE THELPS

JACK'S LUCK TURNS CHAPTER 46.

We all know how often things go by contraries; how fate or luck astonishes us at times by favoring us when we least expect it.

That day Jack Hunter wrote a large policy.

He had visited this man's office feeling very down-hearted, almost unable to talk. Perhaps this particular prospect liked his lack of push, admired his simple statement that he had come to insure his life; however it was, Jack had gone from that office with an application in his pocket that had it come before he knew of Helen's act would have rejoiced his very soul. But now he seemed to care very little. He had tried because from some source they had to have money to live. Beyond that he cared nothing. He had married a shallow doll, instead of a help-mate. He still loved her, he couldn't help that, but he loved her as one would a naughty, even a bad child who made you unhappy, yet who you could not shake off.

Should he tell her of this big policy?

"He may not pass the medical examination," he said to himself, yet he knew he was a good risk.

He asked the general agent for $10.

"Glad to help you any time, Hunter!" Don't believe in it, but for a man who can bring in such policies as that one you brought today, I am willing to stretch a point."

Hunter thanked him, yet felt he was being patronized. He knew the agent "got his" as they all in the office expressed it, and he resented his tone. Yet he had to have money. He hadn't even car-fare in his pocket, neither had he left Helen any for food.

He stopped and took home some chops, and butter, also some fruit. There was no one at home, and a note on the dining room table read:

"No money! No food! Have gone to dinner with Gertrude Langdon. Come and get me about 10 o'clock or I shall have to borrow of her to get home. She took me in her car. Ta-Ta—Helen."

Jack cooked a chop and ate it, then sat down to wait until 10 o'clock. He had not thought of Helen's going out—she went out often nowadays it suddenly occurred to him. He was glad she had gone with Mrs. Langdon. He couldn't have endured her questions, and he was almost sure they would quarrel again. He would bring her home, and get into bed at once before there was time for hard words.

Would 10 o'clock never come?

Finally he judged it was time to go. When he neared the house he heard music, and hesitated on the stoop before he rang the bell. He hated the thought of seeing anyone, speaking to anyone. He pulled himself together rang the bell, and when the maid came asked that she tell Mrs. Hunter her husband was waiting for her.

"You must come in, Mr. Hunter," Gertrude Langdon appeared in the hall. "I shan't take no for an answer." Before Jack realized what had happened she had helped him off with his coat, and led him into the living room where Helen and two or three others were playing some new records on the victrola.

"I made Mr. Hunter come in," Mrs. Langdon told Helen.

"If you can make Jack do anything you are a wonder—anything to have a good time, I mean," Helen answered. "Nonsense! You like a good time as well as anyone I am sure!" the handsome widow said looking at Jack.

"At the right time, yes," he replied, ill at ease.

"He's too old-fogy for anything!" Helen broke in, not disagreeably, just stating a fact.

"Then it is time we broke him of the habit," Gertrude Langdon replied, introducing him to the others who had smilingly listened to this passage of arms—amused that gay laughing Helen Hunter should be so frank.

It was 12 o'clock before Jack got Helen started for home.

"Did you get my note?" she asked in a mischievous manner.

"Yes."

"Where did you get car-fare? You told me you didn't have it."

"I asked Drake to advance me another ten. I brought home chops."

It was a sort of an apology; but remained unnoticed.

The H. & A. Manufacturing Policy

The manufacturing policy of the Company is easily expressed—to make the best possible Cordage and to constantly improve on its own standards. H. & A. "Blue Heart" Manila Rope can be shown by actual test to be equal to any Rope manufactured in the world and perhaps superior to any standard make. "Star" brand Binder Twine occupies the same position in its field as does H. & A. "Blue Heart" Manila Rope in its. This has been shown in thousands of tests made all over the country in the past years.

The other products of the Company are all of a high grade character and occupy a respected position in the trade.

The only way to build a business that will last through decades is to manufacture a worthy product and to distribute it fairly. This has been, and will be, this Company's intention and practice.
